Johnson Seeks To Get Funds For Rent Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces plan an all-out push on the Senate floor today to restore funds for a controversial rent subsidy program.

Democratic leaders were stung by a surprise 15-12 appropriations committee vote Monday to eliminate the $12 million rent allotment from a supplemental money bill. They worked feverishly in advance of the floor showdown to nail down the needed votes.

And they had substantial help from the White House. President Johnson repeatedly has endorsed the rent supplement plan as a key weapon in the battle to provide decent housing for low income families.

Under the plan, the federal government would pay the difference between 25 per cent of a family's income and the rent for adequate housing in projects built and operated by nonprofit organizations. None of the subsidies would go to individual, private landlords.

In passing the omnibus 1965 housing bill, the Senate defeated 47 to 40 a Republican move to kill the rent subsidy authorization. Later senators voted 45 to 37 to keep in an appropriations bill a $12 million item for the rent subsidies. But the House balked and the funds were dropped at that time.

This year, in acting on the measure before the Senate today, the House supported the new program. It turned down, 198 to 190, a GOP move to kill the subsidies.

As approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee, the bill contains $2.8 billion in dozens of allotments to tide various government agencies over for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he hopes action on the bill could be completed today.

Johnson sought the $30 million authorized by the 1965 housing bill and some big city senators wanted to try to restore the entire $30 million today. But it appeared likely administration strategy would be to settle for the House figure of $12 million.

B52s Slug Pass On Commie Line

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52s pounded North Viet Nam for the second time in the war today, again attacking the Mu Gia Pass on the supply route to the south.

In their first raid on the Communist north 15 days ago, the Strategic Air Command's eight-engine planes dropped 700 tons of bombs which set off landslides that reportedly closed the pass. But a week later U.S. spokesmen said North Vietnamese workers had reopened the mountain roadway and men and supplies for the Viet Cong were again able to get through.

The U.S. spokesman said no assessment had been made yet of the damage inflicted today by the raid on the mountain gateway on the Laotian frontier 230 miles south of Hanoi.

Terrorists Strike

While the long-range American bombers from Guam struck the north, Viet Cong terrorists singled out a new target in a month-long wave of violence in Saigon. A powerful mine exploded in the midst of civilian construction workers, killing eight South Koreans and three Vietnamese and injuring more than 40 persons, including some children.

In the ground war, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and the Marines continued two major searches for the Viet Cong, but so far reported only meager results.

After four days of scouring the jungles north of Tay Ninh City, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier, the "Big Red One" reported killing 15 Viet Cong and capturing 570 tons of rice in Operation Birmingham.

Pro-American Rally
On the confused Vietnamese political scene, more than 1,000 persons staged an anti-Communist, pro-American rally in the Roman Catholic village of Tam Toa, on the outskirts of Da Nang. The villagers also protested a grenade incident on April 19 in which four Catholics were injured during a similar rally. They demanded action from the authorities.

Da Nang and other northern cities were virtually under the control of Buddhist and dissident military elements during the recent unrest which has calmed down since a pledge by the government to hold national elections within five months.

House Bill To Raise Food Aid

LANSING (AP) — The House was to complete work today on a social welfare program that backers say will raise every Michigan resident to a guaranteed minimum daily food budget of 89 cents.

Opponents said the broad changes in the program and the Legislature's apparent unwillingness to raise new taxes will contribute to a $250 million state debt by June, 1968.

Tuesday the House passed Medicare implementation bills with an estimated price tag of $15 million for the coming fiscal year.

Due for action today is the social welfare bill, including the Medicare costs and estimated at $134 million, $20 million more than that recommended in Gov. George Romney's $944.9 million budget and some $31 million more than is spent this year.

Minority leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said he was "voting no" on this Medicare bill as a protest.

"We now have pending before the Legislature appropriations bills that would plunge the state into a $30 million deficit by the end of the next fiscal year (June, 1967), and a quarter of a billion dollars into debt by June of 1968, if these programs continue and no new taxes are raised."

Meet In London; Ministers Talk Nuclear Control
BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel is flying to London to talk with U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and three other leaders of the Atlantic alliance Thursday and Friday about nuclear weapons, the Defense Ministry announced today.

The defense ministers of Britain, Italy and Turkey also will take part in the talks, the ministry said. A spokesman said they would concern the use of tactical nuclear weapons now under command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Doctors Look To More Use Of Heart Pump

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A modified version of the partial artificial pump that kept Marcel DeRudder alive nearly five days may be used on another patient within several weeks.

DeRudder, 65, died Tuesday of a ruptured left lung, the last of several complications that developed after he became the first patient to make use of the new device designed to give damaged hearts a rest so they can heal themselves.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, the noted surgeon who performed the six-hour operation last Thursday, said the lung rupture was a complication "over which we had no control."

"We don't know what caused the rupture," he said after DeRudder's sudden and unexpected death.

"The pump did what we thought it would do. We would hope to use it in all cases of this type."

Asked when the device might be used again, he replied: "I can't tell. Probably in several weeks."

He indicated modifications being planned will not change the basic design of the device.

DeRudder never regained consciousness, but DeBakey said that, prior to the lung rupture, there had been signs this and other complications would have been overcome.

"But that's speculation," he added.

At the time of death, DeRudder also was receiving treatment for a kidney malfunction and for lung congestion.

The autopsy report attributed the prolonged unconsciousness to a blood clot in a major artery in the brain. It said a considerable amount of this fragmented clot had been found during the operation in the left auricle, the heart chamber that receives blood from veins.

"The autopsy revealed no evidence of any recurrence of this clot formation in the left auricle," the report said.

The artificial heart pump, the report said, was working normally up to the moment of death.

Jury Frees Hedy LaMarr

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Hedy LaMarr's role was for real. She played it with dignity and a smile.

"Not guilty," said a Municipal Court clerk, reading the jury's verdict Tuesday at the climax of Miss LaMarr's six-day trial on a charge of shoplifting.

Applause burst from some 50 spectators who had stuck through attorneys' final arguments and five hours' jury deliberation.

Hedy, 51, sitting erect at the counsel table, handsome in a camel's-hair suit, her caramel-blond hair chitly tousled, flashed a smile. Then another. Her kid-gloved fingers entwined the fingers of her attorney in a victory grip.

She walked to the jury box. Smiling, she thanked and shook hands with each of the seven men and five women jurors.

Pope Paul And Gromyko Agree On Peace Work

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko held a historic meeting today and agreed to work together for world peace.

The Pope received Gromyko in a private audience and talked with him for 45 minutes. It was the first papal audience ever given a minister of a Communist government.

Gromyko told a news conference they "agreed on the need to work together for peace independently of ideologies."

A brief Vatican communique said the meeting was "in continuation of the talk" the pontiff and Gromyko had at United Nations headquarters in New York during the Pope's visit there last October. They had exchanged remarks in a receiving line.

Vatican sources said it was almost certain they discussed the Pope's visit to the U.N. and his repeated pleas for world peace. The sources said the Pope probably urged the Soviet government to use its great influence to ease tensions and seek permanent peace.

The sources added that it was most unlikely that such ticklish subjects as recently worsened relations between the Church and the Communist government of Poland were raised.

Gromyko said that "even though the visit was of a private character," he and the Pope had discussed various world problems.

The visit was a major step in improving the basic mood between the half-billion-member Roman Catholic Church and the Communist world.

It was considered in Vatican circles that Gromyko's visit could ease the way for a future papal visit behind the Iron Curtain.

After the audience Gromyko visited the Sistine Chapel to see the Michelangelo frescoes.

A Soviet plane stood by at Rome's International Airport to take Gromyko and his party back to Moscow after the papal audience. The foreign minister and his wife visited St. Peter's last week, and she toured the Vatican Museum.

The pageantry and ceremony which usually mark papal audiences were kept to a minimum. The Swiss Guards in their medieval red and yellow uniforms were absent from San Damiano courtyard where visitors to the Pope usually are greeted.

No religious officials took part in the welcome. The Soviet foreign minister was received by four lay officials, headed by Marquis Giulio Sacchetti.

The audience was held in the Pope's private library. The pontiff met Gromyko at the doorway and they shook hands. Present at the audience were Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state, and the Rt. Rev. Josef Osh, rector of the Pontifical Russian college in Rome, who was the interpreter.

Hoffa Asks All Transportation Mandatory Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa called today for mandatory safety standards covering "all phases of transportation" including trucks.

The Teamsters head told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that while he endorses the objectives of the administration's auto safety bill "I must express serious reservations regarding some of the means proposed."

"I favor a bill with mandatory safety standards — not merely the authorization in the secretary of commerce to promulgate standards two years from now if he thinks voluntary action has failed," Hoffa said in a statement to the committee.

Hoffa also said the secretary should be required to do this within one year. The administration bill would give him two years plus another two years after that before the standards would take effect.

"I favor a bill which covers all phases of transportation and does not exclude from its scope trucks presumably covered by safety regulations under the Interstate Commerce Act," Hoffa said.

The auto industry has declared that it favors the federal government having the final say in setting safety standards but the declaration met with skepticism from some congressmen.

The committee resumes its hearings today with testimony from Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, and spokesmen for the national tire dealers, the Insurance Institute and legal and medical groups.

Bugas made these points:

1. The industry and states should work together with the federal government to formulate broad auto safety standards, covering such things as brake performance, visibility and safety to passengers.

2. Congress should set guidelines, specifying the standards be considered in light of cost versus potential benefit, compatibility of the safety standards with engineering factors and length of installation time.

3. The secretary of commerce would have the power to accept or reject standards formulated by industry or the states and to issue mandatory, binding standards applicable to all new U.S. cars.

"When we're talking about federal standards," Bugas said, "we're talking about broad concepts, major safety characteristics that tell what performance a car shall meet, rather than how these are met."

The auto spokesman then turned to the question of congressional guidelines.

"That sounds good, but it doesn't say a whole lot," Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., told Bugas, a Ford Motor Co. vice president, and representatives of the other three major U.S. manufacturers.

"We have not put down language in detail," replied Bugas. "We have introduced concepts."

He promised the committee that the auto makers would submit language covering their proposals for consideration. In essence, the industry statement brought it close to the administration's viewpoint.

"Have you caved in?" asked Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio. Bugas said the industry had merely reconsidered some objections that had been raised.

"I'm a little confused," said Rep. Torbert H. MacDonald, D-Mass. "You took a completely different point of view in the Senate."

600 Mile Walk Starting Today

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — "I'm as young as ever, in fine condition," says 66-year-old Marion Pearson who starts today to walk 600 miles in 23 days without eating a bite of food.

Pearson, known as a "super walker" because of long hikes he has taken since 1920, and four other men were scheduled to stride off toward Richmond, Ind., early today.

Point of departure for the hikers—whose ages range from 45 to 68—was the center of the International Bridge between Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and its sister city, Sault Ste. Marie, Canada.

"Man can walk long distances without eating," said Pearson, president of Grand Rapids Spring Service Co.

He planned to take only water during the jaunt. The others figured it would be enough just to walk the 600 miles.

Pearson said he has found his desire for food wanes after about the third day of walking. He predicted he will lose about one pound a day on the trip.

Kills Proposal For Chicago To Pacific Giant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission unanimously approved today the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads—the biggest merger in U.S. history.

But it rejected by a hairline 6-5 vote another merger plan that would have created the nation's longest railroad.

The ICC ordered the new Eastern rail giant to take over all operations — passenger and freight — of the bankrupt New Haven Railroad.

The decision was made April 6 but not disclosed until today.

By handing down one of its rare merger votes in an age of continuing rail consolidation, the ICC turned aside the bid of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy to merge, taking over two smaller railroads, into a 25,000-mile system stretching from Chicago to the West Coast.

Over a barrage of dissents, charging the majority with abdicating its duty under national transportation policy, the ICC ruled that the drastic loss of competition and harmful effects to employees in a Northern lines' merger far outweigh the financial advantages of such a consolidation.

Effective In June

There was no immediate comment from the lines involved, pending study of the ICC order.

The Penn-Central merger — which may take effect in the first week of June — will create a system of some 20,000 rail miles, extending from Montreal and Norfolk, Va., west in an hourglass pattern to Chicago and St. Louis. The corporate giant will have combined assets exceeding $5.3 billion.

The new system, the ICC said in a report by Commissioner Kenneth H. Tuggle, will be in a better position to compete with the East's two other great rail systems—the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western. Those two lines are currently seeking to merge.

With improved financial returns and greater efficiency resulting from the merger, the ICC said, the system "will be able to attract investment capital, maintain and improve service, regain diverted traffic and avoid further loss of traffic to other carriers."

"There is no question but that the transaction will permit more economical and efficient use of the applicants' transportation facilities," the ICC said.

Boon To Shippers

Reaping an estimated annual savings of $80 million after eight years, the ICC said, the Penn-Central—formerly the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co.—will be a boon to shippers and the general public alike.

The commission diverged from the March 1965 recommendation of its examiners by ordering Penn-Central to take over passenger as well as freight operations of the faltering New Haven. Examiners had recommended only a freight takeover.

The Penn-Central case has been before the commission since March 9, 1962; the Great Northern case since Feb. 12, 1961.

Until today, the commission had approved 26 of 43 unification proposals since 1955, denying but four. Others were withdrawn or deferred by the railroads involved, leaving only the 12 pending.

It has been 13 months since ICC examiners Jerome K. Lyle and Henry C. Darmstadter recommended approval of the Penn-Central merger to the full commission. Twenty months have elapsed since examiner Robert H. Murphy endorsed the Northern lines case and passed it on to the commission.

While other big merger cases remain before the ICC — such as the C&O-N&W proposal, or the fight between the Chicago & North Western and the Union Pacific for the Rock Island — few have generated the intense business world excitement of the Penn-Central proposal.

$195,407 For Legal Aid

Indigents Get Attorneys

The six Community Action Agencies administering the War on Poverty program in the Upper Peninsula are each to get an attorney to serve the poor free with all their legal needs, and a coordinating lawyer for the program will be stationed at the Escanaba office of UPACAP, which has received a federal grant of $195,407 to finance the program.

The grant was announced today by Congressman Raymond Cleveland and U. S. Senator Patrick McNamara, who said that it was the first program of its kind in a non-metropolitan area in the United States.

They said the program will be operated in close cooperation with local bar associations, whose members will help pay 10 per cent of the cost of the program with their unpaid contributions of educational services like preventive law instruction, evaluation of the program, etc. Free office rentals for the attorneys for the poor will also help pay the sponsor share of the project.

State Bar Project

The Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress sponsored the program as the technical assistance agency serving the 6 Upper Peninsula CAAs. Al Huleci of UPACAP said that project was suggested by the State Bar of Michigan and that members of several U. P. county bar associations worked with CAA officers in developing the project.

A non-profit corporation will be created to receive the contract to administer the program. It will be governed by a board of 15 members of whom 6 will be attorneys active in the practice of law or in judicial capacity, one for each Community Action Program area in the U. P. The areas are: Menominee - Delta - Schoolcraft, Mackinac - Chippewa - Luce, Marquette - Alger, Baraga, Houghton - Keweenaw, Dickinson - Iron and Gogebic - Ontonagon.

Also on the board will be three attorneys, one chosen by the prosecutors of the U. P., one by the circuit judges and one by the probate judges, and six low income people from the CAP areas. The governing board will make policy and appoint the director-coordinator, who will receive $15,000 a year salary. The staff attorneys will get $10,000 and will be full-time employees, not permitted to take private employment.

Twenty Clerks

The project will also employ 20 clerical persons, secretaries, clerk - typists and referral clerks.

The functions of the attorneys will be to offer legal assistance to any groups to be served in the CAAs. Eligible will be families on any type of welfare assistance or direct relief rolls, those getting $3,000 or less (with $500 added for each person over four). The basic function will be complete legal consultation and representation to the indigent in all fields of law except criminal defense, where Michigan Law provides public defenders for indigents.

Specially in prospect are aid in landlord-tenant relations, debtor-creditor issues, justice and municipal court criminal actions, juvenile court criminal actions, and domestic cases of all kinds, like child custody, divorce, support orders, etc.

It is expected that the clients will be referred to the legal service by existing public and private agencies traditionally involved with the groups concerned, like the welfare departments, Catholic Social Services, etc., and by attorneys in private practice, court officials and CAA personnel.

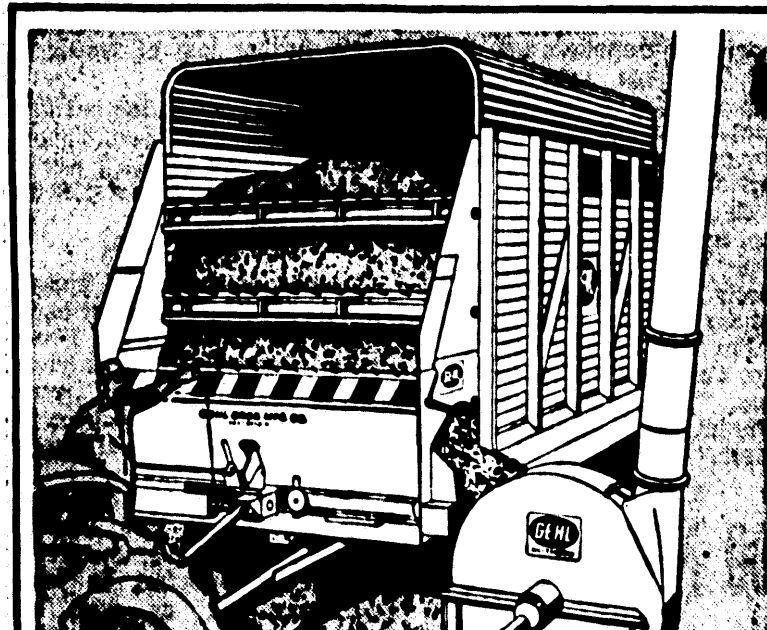

The program will also provide referral to private practitioners "when it is deemed the best way to get the job done." Private attorneys serving such clients would be paid $15 an hour.

The project is financed for one year and should be going within a month, UPACAP spokesmen said. There are several such projects being developed in Michigan.

Lake Michigan Whitefish Haul Is 'Fantastic'

Production of whitefish in Lake Michigan and perch in Lake Huron by commercial fishermen of Michigan is "fantastic" said Roy Jensen, Escanaba, executive secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers Association today.

The very strong comeback of populations of these fish species is the more remarkable because they had hit such low numbers and because the Great Lakes fishery is so widely reported to be in great trouble from pollution.

The reports of feast and famine in the commercial fish business is not contradictory, because the lower end of Lake Michigan has been the pollution area of greatest concern and the great comeback of whitefish has been in waters of the lake from Manistique east to St. Ignace, said Jensen.

The whitefish had "practically disappeared" from these waters in recent years. The situation, said Jensen, reminded him of a statement of his late father, Peter Jensen, that the whitefish population was cyclic. "My dad had to quit fishing whitefish at one time with his sailboat because there were so few of them," said Jensen.

The comeback of perch has been in the north end of Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron, said Jensen. Commercial fishermen there have been catching so many fish that they cannot market all of them, he said.

"We are worrying about our commercial markets," said Jensen. "Last year when our United States whitefish came onto the New York market the price there was depressed because there was such a heavy importation of Canadian whitefish.

"And we note that when our Saginaw Bay fishermen can't sell their perch that the customs at Detroit admitted 80,000 pounds of Canadian perch to the market in one day. Our chub fishermen can't make a living and Canadian chubs are coming into our markets in heavy volume."

Gov. George Romney has told Gov. Warren Knowles of Wisconsin that he believes that there is no need for a federal conference on Lake Michigan pollution. He indicated that he was opposed to calling such a conference between Wisconsin and Michigan.

The two states have already participated in a federal conference on the Menominee and Brule River watershed pollution. Romney said that the Michigan Water Resources Commission had informed him that "there are no existing or incipient problems of transboundary significance" and from a Michigan point of view there is no basis for a federal conference.

Knowles plans to call two state conferences — at Milwaukee June 28 and Green Bay June 30 to which federal, state, municipal and industry officials would be invited.

Jury Considers Negligence Suit

A 12-member Circuit Court jury began deliberations today on the auto negligence suit of Mrs. Donald (Elaine) Feller, 1615 3rd Ave., S., against Film Service, Inc., of Milwaukee.

Judge Bernard Davidson completed instructions to the jury shortly after noon after attorney Clair Hoehn for the plaintiff and Attorney James Fitzharris for the defendant made summation arguments.

Mrs. Feller is asking $33,816 in damages for injuries suffered in an automobile accident on May 20, 1960. She was injured when the car in which she was riding slammed into the rear of a Film Service truck which was parked in a no parking zone in the 2300 block of S. 23rd St.

The plaintiff alleges that the accident was caused by the illegal parking of the truck.

The defendant claims the illegal parking of the truck was not the "approximate cause" of the accident, placing the blame instead on Elaine Anderson of Escanaba, who was the driver of the car, for failing to avoid the truck.

U.S. Corpsman Praises People Of S. Viet Nam

While the people of the Republic of Viet Nam have their problems they also have many things going for them—including the rivalry of the United States and the Communists to see who can do the most for them.

And as seen through the perceptive eyes of a young U. S. Navy Hospital Corpsman, James Putnam, the South Vietnamese are keen enough to take advantage of the situation.

Putnam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Putnam of Ford River Road. He is now home on leave after 11 months in South Viet Nam and will be next assigned to Guam.

Aid The People
Putnam emphasized in his talk to the Rotary Club at its luncheon Tuesday noon at the House of Ludington that he spoke from his own viewpoint and thus his remarks did not reflect any official opinions.

His talk was illustrated with color slides he had made in Viet Nam.

He was with the U. S. military forces in their first amphibious landing on the coast south of Da Nang on May 7 last year. The Navy hospital ship "Repose" with a capacity of 1,000 patients had the wounded brought to her by helicopter.

Medical civilians found time to help the people in the Viet Nam villages, soon won their confidence and had many Vietnamese coming for treatment of their disorders.

"The people are reasonably clean but sanitation had to be taught," said Putnam. "They are backward compared to our standards. A baby with sores all over its body was cured by the use of soap and water—but the mother did this against the advice of the older women in the village."

Children Victims
Putnam had taken many pictures of children, "the victims of the war" who he said were quick, intelligent, and learned English in a remarkably short time. A number of the children have been adopted and are now in this country.

Recollections of days slogging through rain and mud, sweating in the hot sun, and treating the wounded—some the victims of Viet Cong atrocities—were presented by Putnam. Stories of atrocities by the Americans are unfounded and untrue, Putnam declared. "Our armed forces are very well disciplined," he added.

Because the people have so little they tend to make the most of the wartime situation to advance themselves, he observed. The Viet Cong and the U. S. each promise to improve the situation of the people—and "I believe we are meeting our promises."

There is genuine concern for the welfare of the people by the government of the Republic of Viet Nam and Putnam said he believes the people would back Premier Ky in "keeping the country secure" despite religious rivalries.

Smelt Spawning Run About Over

Smelt runs in the Escanaba area are about over, the Conservation Department reports. Some perch are being taken in the Escanaba Yacht Harbor area with hook and line. Perch fishing has been excellent in the Masonville area, with some nice jumbos being taken.

In the Marquette area rainbow are reported to be coming in and should be reaching their peak before long, but the water is very high — over the banks. There is still some snow in the woods and side roads are in bad condition.

Smelt are coming in and have been plentiful in the Dead River and Chocoley River. They have reached their peak and should be declining shortly.

In the Gwinn area streams are very high but lakes have started to open up and should be ready for the opener. For the opening of the general trout season on April 30, John-on Lake is recommended for rainbows and Swanzy and Airport lakes for brook trout.

In the Chatham area's Rock River a few rainbows are being taken below the dam and off the mouth on spawn and some trolling, using red and white spoons. Laughing Whitefish produced several nice rainbows in the stream and off the mouth, trolling. One 13 pound 1 ounce dressed rainbow was caught in Laughing Whitefish this week.

Smelt are coming into streams in this area and should reach their peak by midweek.

Water is very high and roads are bad.

Roadside Sign Policy

Manager Ken Dorman of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association was spokesman for all four tourist and resort associations of Michigan at the meeting in Lansing this week on highway beautification. The meeting resulted from the Federal Bureau of Roads' implementation of new congressional legislation that limits federal aid on highway construction to projects where new standards of roadside beauty are observed.

The crucial element here is roadside signs which identify businesses along the highways.

Dorman has been a scrapper for the interests of recreation businesses which live off highway trade and he expresses a proper concern that the new federal prohibition on roadside signs does not put our U.P. tourist businesses into a sign-less obscurity where they "watch the Fords go by."

But the Upper Michigan Tourist Association policy in this matter as enunciated by Dorman leaves something to be desired. It is one thing to work to prevent injury to our recreational businesses, but to argue that the federal government lacks legal authority for its action in the U.P. when it has been generally accepted in Lower Michigan and elsewhere does not firm up our footing for the contest.

And Dorman's language is intemperate when he suggests "federal and state tax monies derived from gasoline or other motor fuel products should be devoted exclusively to the building of highways . . . none should be used in any way for the highway beautification projects."

This sort of talk from a person promoting the Upper Peninsula's multi-million dollar tourist business ignores the reason why people come to the Upper Peninsula for recreation. It is to see the Peninsula's beauty, to enjoy its historic and its uniqueness. If the Upper Peninsula has no interest in esthetics (Dorman says, "I like esthetics") it will eventually diminish its appeal to visitors seriously. Not to make protection of the prime reason for using the highways eligible for some of the highway money would be as mistaken as to deny them policing.

There is a midway point where recreation businesses can be identified by roadside signs which will not deteriorate the appeal of the roadside. We should all be striving to bring the tourist businesses and the highway authorities together on this point. We need them both.

We have had too much strongarm stuff by government in this matter and too little admission by the roadside businesses that they, too, have an interest in roadside beauty.

As Dorman cites, the highway officials aren't at all reluctant to erect large road signs telling how they're being so good to us with our own money building highways. Their attitude is so hard-nosed that other government agencies find that they cannot get what they regard as adequate highway sites for directional signs to government recreational establishments.

Government has goofed here.

Would Critics Agree?

By BRUCE BROSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Many U. S. and foreign critics of American policy in Viet Nam seem to view almost cheerfully the idea of a Communist takeover in embattled South Viet Nam.

If the current, Buddhist-led internal uprisings have brought that prospect any closer, it stirs no concern in these circles. The critics of our policy see the Reds fighting a war which at base is a social revolution, bound to produce benevolent results.

One wonders when they last examined the "benevolences" bestowed upon the people of North Viet Nam by the Red regime of Ho Chi Minh, whom one U. S. critic dares to call a kind of "George Washington" in a Vietnamese setting.

Take a look at Hanoi's program of land reform. Breakup of existing landholdings is a stereotype item in liberal critics' pat picture of "social revolution" the world over.

Hanoi's ruthless dispossession of landholders, a high percentage of them owners of relatively small plots, generated a severe crisis only two years after Ho Chi Minh gained power.

Says historian Bernard Fall in "The Two Viet Nams": "The best-educated guesses on the subject are that probably close to 50,000 North Vietnamese were executed in connection with the land reform and that at least twice as many (100,000) were arrested and sent to forced labor camps."

In November of 1956, almost at the same moment Russian tanks were crushing Hungarian freedom fighters, a whole North Vietnamese division was sent to stamp out a peasant revolt. Some 6,000 farmers were deported or executed. Since most North Vietnamese land was already held by its tillers, the victims of Ho's "reforms" were largely artificial. He designated "landlords." Historian Fall says quotes of these were delivered to the executioner or jailer even in areas where the difference between largest and smallest plots was just a quarter-acre.

Another Asian specialist in agrarian matters says Hanoi later conceded that nearly a third of the persons tried and convicted as "landlords" had been condemned in error.

Though Hanoi called a halt to this sweeping terror in 1956, it quickly added new fuel to rural discontent by beginning to collectivize North Vietnamese peasants on a wide scale. In 1961, many peasant riots flared and rice granaries were stormed.

From 1954 on, North Viet Nam's natural food deficit has been seriously aggravated by faltering rice output in consequence of farmer rebellion and Hanoi's bureaucratic incompetence. Peasants have been hauled to the cities to work in trail new industries.

In South Viet Nam, land distribution presently is far less even than in the north. A Communist regime, running the country from Hanoi or Saigon, would be sorely tempted to repeat and enlarge upon the brutal errors of Ho Chi Minh's early land policy.

One can imagine, too, the fate of South Viet Nam's 1.7 million Catholics, more than a third of whom once lived in Ho's territory.

The balanced historians agree Ho runs a garrison state, a harsh police state. Education is indoctrination. Intellectuals are ostracized. Freedom is suppressed. His struggle has not been against the peasantry, not for it.

In pursuing its overriding political aims of nationalization, industrialization and farm collectivization, Hanoi has created disorder, dislocation, and new poverty and hunger in the overcrowded Red river delta where most North Vietnamese live.

French diplomats who know the north believe 90 per cent of the North Vietnamese hate the Red government of Ho Chi Minh ("George Washington") in 1961. Citizens of Hanoi in recent years have often whispered "down with Communists" in the ears of Canadians serving on the International Control Commission.

So much for Ho's paradise of "social revolution."

Michigan Has Doctor Shortage

By PHIL BROWN
Associated Press Writer

If you can't quickly find a doctor when you want one—or think you want one—that's a doctor shortage.

Michigan has a shortage. In some areas it's described as serious. The Michigan Health Council lists 154 communities needing general practitioners and 86 needing specialists. A number of communities list their needs as urgent.

"A certain segment of the population is not getting the treatment it would like to, and is entitled to," said Dr. Leon Fill, a Detroit physician and a member of the State Board of Education.

With demands expanding, it is hard to estimate how many physicians Michigan might need in the years ahead.

Authorities say there also is a tremendous need for additional "hands for the doctor"—nurses, technicians and others. Frederick A. Trull, assistant executive director of the Michigan Hospital Association, said a 1965 survey showed 625 vacant registered nurse positions in 155 reporting hospitals out of the state's 242.

"It is conservatively estimated that there are 30,000 unfilled positions in the health field in Michigan," said John A. Doherty, executive director of the Michigan Health Council.

Alligan is one community urgently seeking a general practitioner.

Alligan County doctors are under a heavy strain, said Charles Yeates, administrator of the Alligan Health Center. He added that crowded doctors' waiting rooms prompt some patients to give up, or to drive 20 miles to Kalamazoo or 45 miles to Grand Rapids for health care.

"Our hospital is like so many today, where a number of patients come to us in the emergency room, probably because they can't get a doctor directly," he said.

Need Specialists
For those who do not actually need emergency service, it is an expensive way to receive a doctor's services. Yeates said, because emergency room fees are added to the regular doctor's fees.

In Hancock, the need is for specialists, said Sister Jean Frances, administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Questions And Answers

Q—Is Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. located on a Civil War battlefield?

A—The Army Medical Center is on a tract of land about 5 miles northwest of the center of the city, on the site of a skirmish of the Civil War known as the Battle of Fort Stevens.

Q—Have the two thieves crucified with Christ been identified?

A—Their names are not given in the Scriptures. There is a tradition that the one who was penitent on the cross was named Dismas; the other was named Gestas.

Q—Which planet has the smallest orbit?

A—Mercury, which completes its circle of the sun in 88 days.

Because of the Upper Peninsula's long, snowy winters, "we almost have to find the correct personality type for our area," she added.

Anyone needing specialty services now probably goes to Duluth, Minn., or to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. Duluth is about 200 miles away.

and the travel "is quite an economic factor for the patients," Sister Jean Frances said. Probably there is no way to avoid an occasional case in which someone, somewhere is unable to find a doctor when he wants one.

"The final question is: what is the health of the people," said Dr. William Hubbard, dean of the University of Michigan medical school.

"The answer is: pretty good—should be better," he added.

"We're not faced with some great crisis. We're faced with some serious problems," Dr. Hubbard said. "We're not going downhill as far as we can see."

One Per Thousand
Michigan Health Council figures indicate Michigan has about 100 medical doctors for every 100,000 people. That compares with about 265 in the District of Columbia and 75 in New Mexico.

Adding osteopaths brings the total to about 125.

"The ratio of physicians to population in Michigan hasn't changed significantly in 50 years," Dr. Hubbard said.

Pointing to the ratios in other states, he added: "Apparently there is no precise relationship between the physician-population ratio and the health of the people. But once the ratio is established, the system depends on that."

Michigan, though, is a debtor state when it comes to producing doctors.

Medical schools at U-M and Wayne State University turn out about 300 doctors a year, "but more than 300 new doctors are coming into Michigan each year," said Hugh Brenneman, executive director of the Michigan State Medical Society.

Early in the 1970s, U-M and Wayne State, supported by a new medical college at Michigan State University, should be turning out about 450 physicians a year.

A 1963 study committee estimated that just to keep up with its population growth, Michigan should be taking about 500 students a year into its medical colleges by 1971.

More Needed
But there is more to the problem than that. Medicare and other welfare programs mean the existing population will ask for more health services.

Medicare, starting July 1, will provide insured hospitalization for up to 18 million citizens 65 or over nationwide, about 700,000 of them in Michigan.

Federal figures indicate about 76 per cent of doctors are in private practice. The study committee noted that the other 24 per cent "make a vital contribution to the provision of health services," but added that as far as the community is concerned, local demand is unmet.

Keeping up with population growth could mean more than maintaining the current physician ratio. The percentage of very old and very young persons is increasing, and these are the groups that make the heaviest demands on health services.

Records of the State Board of Registration in Medicine in March showed 67 of Michigan's 83 counties with fewer than one

Ann Landers

She, Too, Loves To Hear Husband Snore

Dear Ann Landers: I chuckled when I read the letter from the woman who said she loved to listen to her husband snore. I'm with her -- but for another reason. When my husband is snoring he is not grinding his teeth.

Teeth-grinding cannot be described to a person who has not heard it. The closest I can come is to compare it to the sound of a piece of chalk going the wrong way on a blackboard.

My husband went to see a doctor about it last year -- at my insistence. The doctor gave him some tranquilizers. They didn't help. The doctor then suggested that I take the tranquilizers.

I have always hated to take medicine and I resent having to be on tranquilizers when it is my husband who has the problem. Please comment on this ridiculous situation and offer some advice. -- MRS. COUNTDOWN

Dear Mrs. Count: My dentist tells me your husband has a common affliction which is known by a fancy name -- bruxism. He also says you won't be bothered much longer because soon your husband will have no teeth.

Until then, move into the extra bedroom if you have one. If not, flip a coin to see who gets the cot in the kitchen. It's stupid to take tranquilizers when you can get a natural night's sleep by putting some distance between you and the old grinder.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 19 and feel like 101. Here's my problem: I hold down a full-time job and pay room and board. I also do all the washing and ironing and housecleaning for this family of four. I prepare my dad's lunches and get his work clothes ready. He works nights. Mom and I work days.

I know Mom is tired when she comes home, but I'm tired, too. Am I wrong to feel that she should pitch in and help me? After all, this is her house, not mine.

The real problem is my leisure time. I am not a run-around type but I would like to accept a date on Saturday night. My mother feels I must stay home and baby-sit with my little brother because she and Dad like to go out Saturdays. I resent being denied a weekend date. After all, my brother is not MY child.

I could move out, but the folks need the financial help. Please advise -- A.M.U.

Dear A.M.U.: Even without modern math I can count three pay checks in your family of four. It doesn't seem reasonable that your mother and Dad are so hard up that they can't afford a sitter one night a week.

Tell your mother she can no longer count on you as a Saturday night sitter. You have earned your free weekend evening and you should insist on it.

The Doctor Says:

Old Medicines May Be Dangerous

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Spring cleaning is a time-honored custom. All too often the American housewife cleans everything from attic to cellar except the family medicine cabinet. Sure, that prescription purchased two years ago when the baby had croup cost you $4.75 and, sure, it would seem wasteful to throw out the last 30 cents worth. But would it be really wasteful? When in doubt apply the following rules:

● If a medicine has changed color or if drugs have formed on the bottom of a bottle labeled "Shake before using," discard it.

● If your aspirin tablets have a sharply acid odor, dump them.

● If your hydrogen peroxide doesn't fizz when applied to a wound, it has outlived its usefulness.

● If the oil has separated from your ointments or they have become discolored, toss them out.

● No antibiotic is much good after 18 months on your shelf.

● Evaporation will increase the strength of your tincture of iodine and cause skin burns.

● Vitamin capsules will deteriorate if not protected from moisture.

● Most oily preparations will become rancid in time.

● Old adhesive tape dries out and will not stick.

● Discard any prescription, the label of which has come off or become so soaked that it is illegible.

It is estimated that 16 million walleye eyes have been planted in the past three years, making ready for fishermen.

MARQUETTE — Spawning rainbow trout will be protected this year in the Little Huron River in Marquette County.

The entire river will be closed to fishing beginning April 30 and extending until June 1.

This action is being taken by the conservation department to protect rainbows at a time when the spawning season of these fish in the Little Huron does not coincide with the normal closed season.

Snake In Bag Is Toothbrush

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sirens screaming, police officers responded to a call that a rattlesnake was loose in a woman's overnight bag.

The woman frantically explained that she had just returned from a trip to Mexico and was opening her bag when she heard the rattle. She slammed the bag shut and tossed it out the window onto the sidewalk.

Patrolmen—armed with brooms—opened the bag, scattered its contents on the sidewalk and leaped back when they heard the distinct buzz.

They probed at the clothes. The buzz grew louder. Then something bright rolled out.

The officers called to the woman at the window: "Lady, you don't have any rattlesnake. What you've got is your electric toothbrush turned on."

Florida Governor Gives Chase But Can't Catch UFO

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Haydon Burns saw a funny thing on his way to the capital — a UFO.

The governor ordered his airplane pilots to give chase, but the unidentified flying object's lights winked out and it disappeared — upward bound — almost at once after Burns' Con-air bore down on it.

So say Burns, his assistant, a Florida Highway Patrol captain and four newspapermen who were flying with the governor to Tallahassee from a re-election campaign session at Orlando.

"I told you," Burns quipped to reporters on board, "that my campaign would be out of this world." Later on the ground he said he preferred that reporters expand on the encounter by moonlight Monday night 6,000 feet over Ocala.

"I much prefer to let the newspaper representatives be quoted," he said Tuesday. "I will confirm that I saw the same unidentified flying object they have alluded to in their writings."

Voters Approve School Remap

SAULT STE. MARIE — Voters in the Eastern Upper Peninsula have approved four more school district reorganization plans — making a total of nine new districts in Chippewa, Luce, Mackinac counties.

A tenth proposal which would consolidate schools at St. Ignace, St. Ignace Township, Moran and Brevort Townships and Mackinac and Bois Blanc Island will be voted on June 13.

Districts approved in Monday's election will center around Sault Ste. Marie, Newberry, Rudyard and DeTour.

The City of Sault Ste. Marie will join with Sugar Island, Soo Township, Dafter, and Bruce Township. Newberry will consolidate with Pentland, Columbus and Lakefield townships in Chippewa County, and the Portage (Curtis), Seney and Hulbert school districts.

Rudyard will join with Trout Lake and the new DeTour district will include Drummond Island and Raber townships.

Previously approved districts will be built around high schools at Pickford, Brimley, Cedarville and Whitefish Township at Paradise.

All of the new districts will include K-12 programs. If the St. Ignace proposal is approved in June, the Intermediate School District will consist of only 10 individual units instead of the former 30.

The vote Monday came as a result of reorganization plans by the Intermediate School district to conform with the state school district organization law passed in 1964.

Americans will spend more on boats and boating in 1966 than ever before, says the Outboard Boating Club of America.

Up About 10%: City Employees Get Pay Boost

About 75 Escanaba city employees of the Public Works Department, represented by Local 78 of the Municipal Employees Union, will receive an increase of about 10 per cent in wages in the fiscal year to begin July 1.

All of the Council members — Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe, Cecil Chase, George Rusch, Ed Cox and H. George Nelson — were present for the meeting at 5 p. m. Monday in the City Hall.

City Manager George Harvey called the Council together to meet with representatives of the Municipal Employees Union "to discuss additional percentage in wages that the union was seeking" and to present the tentative budget for the coming fiscal year.

After discussion it was moved by Councilman Cox "that a five per cent wage increase be and hereby is granted to the Public Works Department over the City Manager's recommendation and that a transfer be made from the unappropriated surplus of the necessary amount to balance revenues with expenditures."

(City Manager Harvey had earlier recommended a pay increase of 3 1/2 per cent. This had been increased to 5 per cent prior to Monday's special meeting, thus bringing the total pay boost to 10 per cent over the current year.)

Voting for the Councilman Cox motion were Chase, Cox, Nelson and Mayor Vanlerberghe.

Councilman George Rusch voted "no." He was said to have been opposed to action that did not conform to a job evaluation survey recently made by the Michigan Personnel Services Branch, Michigan Municipal League for the City of Escanaba.

The report was received by the city and returned to the League for minor changes.

The Council also on Monday received from the city manager the tentative budget for the ensuing year.

The date of May 19 at 8 p. m. was set by the Council for a public hearing on the budget. Copies of the budget were not available immediately, but when they are they will be distributed to the City Hall, Library and other places for public inspection.

Detroit Bid For Olympic Games Fails

ROME (AP) — "We shall try again," says the chairman of Detroit's unsuccessful effort to win selection as site of the 1972 Olympic games. "One day the Detroit bid will be the winning bid," added Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh. The notes of optimism merged with statements of "disappointment" and "frustration" as the Detroit Olympic Committee, headed by Frederick C. Matthaei Jr., prepared to return home empty-handed after Tuesday's decisions. Detroit, Montreal and Madrid lost out to Munich in the bid for the 1972 summer games. The International Olympic Committee gave the 1972 winter games to Sapporo, Japan. It was Detroit's eighth unsuccessful attempt since 1939 to become host for the games. But "defeat has not been humiliating," Cavanagh said. "We have gained further recognition as an international city of sportsmanship," he said. "Detroit's presentation was acclaimed here in Rome." Cavanagh, however, described Detroit's disappointment as "very heavy" and "frustrating." The city's presentation was made by Michigan Gov. George Romney, Cavanagh and Matthaei. Fred Matthaei Sr., one of the prime movers behind Detroit's attempts, has spent an estimated $250,000 to get the Olympics for Detroit. He was present when Detroit made its previous seven bids, but, troubled by the constant rejection of his city, he decided to send his son in his place this time. The presentation was similar to the one made in 1963. But the fanfare which preceded the 1963 bid was nationwide. This time it was muted. The 1963 delegation was sent off with an encouraging telephone call from then Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Congress had voted support of Detroit's bid, the late President John Kennedy appeared in a film which was part of the city's 45 minute presentation, nearly $200,000 was raised to make the bid, the Michigan Legislature adopted a bill providing funds for construction of an Olympic Stadium, and a cross-country marathon was staged to publicize Detroit's effort. None of this took place this year, but officials said that if Detroit got the bid no difficulty was expected in getting legislation to build a new 110,000 seat stadium at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Pro Playoff Series Even

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was an angry Red Auerbach who faced a return trip to Boston today, after the Los Angeles Lakers closed a 3-1 gap and forced Auerbach's world champion Celtics into a seventh game in the 1966 National Basketball Association playoffs. The Lakers, inspired by rookie Gail Goodrich, defeated the Celtics, 123-115, Tuesday night in the sixth game of the best-of-seven playoff match. The deciding game will be played Thursday night in Boston. Many fans had counted the Lakers down and out last Friday, when they trailed 3-1 in games. But Los Angeles defeated Boston, 122-117, Sunday in Boston Garden and then returned home to tie the series. The loss was a bitter disappointment to Auerbach, who retires this season after 21 years as a coach and after seven straight NBA titles. He's still hoping the Celtics give him his eighth NBA trophy. Lakers coach Fred Schaus praised the playing of the Lakers—particularly Goodrich, who at 6-foot-1 is the squad's smallest man. "The Lakers, to a man, feel we can win the championship in Boston, even though this means we will have had to win three in a row," said Schaus.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Felipe Alou, Atlanta, collected five hits, including two homers and two doubles, as the Braves walloped San Francisco 11-3. PITCHING — Luis Tiant, Cleveland, pitched a three-hitter and struck out 12 in the Indians' ninth straight victory, a 4-1 decision over Kansas City. ADRIAN (AP) — Adrian and Defiance of Ohio split a baseball doubleheader Tuesday. Adrian winning the second game 2-1 after Defiance took the first 4-0. Pitcher Lyn Maugherman, who lost the first game, scored Adrian's first run in the nightcap on Tom Smith's single. Steve Adair singled home Ron Hoag for the winning run in the second inning. Tim Kidwell held Adrian to two hits in the opening shutout as Defiance scored runs in the first, fourth and sixth innings. Only one run was earned.

Coach, Assistants, Style

Northern Will Have New Football Look Next Fall

MARQUETTE—There'll be a new look at Northern Michigan University when the Wildcats take the field for the 1966 season, both in coaching staff and in style of play. Northern's new head coach is Roland "Rollie" Dotsch, a former NMU assistant who returns to the Wildcats after four years as a member of the University of Missouri coaching staff. Dotsch's new assistants are Rae Drake and Frank Novak. Drake comes to NMU after an enviable record at Kingsford (Mich.) high school. Novak is a former outstanding Northern quarterback who is returning to his alma mater after serving in the high school ranks at New London, Conn. The new style of play at NMU will be a wing-T offense with an unbalanced line and a split end. The change may see Northern switching to a more wide open style of football with greater emphasis on the passing game. Dotsch plans a multiple defense, relying mostly on five and six man fronts. Dotsch says the "new theories of offense and defense may be one of our weak points, at least until the boys are able to adapt to the changes." The new Northern grid mentor has also pointed out one other weakness: the age-old problem in small colleges of depth. "We lack experience at offensive center," Dotsch pointed out, "and we lack depth at defensive tackle and end." On the plus side of the ledger, Dotsch cites good physical size and strength as strong points. "We've got some big strong boys on the squad. It'll be a big help to us if these boys play the type of game we think they're capable of playing." "We also have a couple of young quarterbacks in Clair Lambert (Westchester, Ill.) and Bill Sauter (Iron Mountain, Mich.)," said Dotsch. "They picked up some good experience last year, and I'm sure they'll get plenty of pointers this spring from offensive coach (Frank) Novak." "Defensively," Dotsch continued, "coach (Rae) Drake will probably be building around one of our co-captains, Byron Johnson (Bessemer, Mich.). From last year's films, he looks like our defensive leader." "It's a little early for us to be definite on individual assignments," added Dotsch. "But I will say this: We have been impressed with several performances we've seen on film. I think we've got some good let-terms. We also have some new boys we want to watch this spring, and we'll have a group of freshmen reporting next fall. We'll know our situation much better by the latter part of May."

Aguirre Gets Usual Squeeze

DETROIT (AP)—Hank Aguirre probably figured it would happen. His arch-enemy, the weatherman, swindled him out of his second scheduled start in a row Tuesday night when the Detroit Tigers called off their game with Minnesota because of the cold. Aguirre wasn't the scheduled starter Tuesday night. Mickey Lolich was. Aguirre was supposed to start tonight when the Tigers host the Kansas City Athletics. Detroit Manager Charlie Dressen announced after the freeze-out that Lolich will start tonight and Bill Monbouquette on Thursday.

Is Pickford's long reign as king of Upper Peninsula small school track and field ranks coming to an end? ... Coach Web Morrison's Panthers have captured 14 straight Upper Peninsula Class D track crowns to write one of the most amazing chapters in the region's sports history ... In their first action of the current season, however, the Panthers were edged in team points by Channing in the seventh annual Northern Indoor meet.

And in their second start the Panthers finished a distant second to Sault Ste. Marie (82-53) in a triangular meet at Pickford, copping only three firsts in the process ... The outstanding individual performer was Soo's Brad Shouldice who won the 120 yard high hurdles, 180 lows and the high jump ... His 21.6 time in the lows was the best in the U.P. this season ... Soo's Neil DeRoche was a double winner in the dashes and his 10.2 in the 100 was faster than any other runner has turned in thus far this season in the Peninsula.

Iron Mountain's sophomore miler, Al Schupp turned in a sensational performance in a recent triangular meet with Menominee and Iron River, stepping his specialty in 4 minutes 36.5 seconds to shatter the school and field records ... His time is better than the Class A-B U.P. mark of 4:33.9 set by Ken Johnson of Marquette in 1962.

Coach Ken Radick's Menominee Maroons served notice in that meet that they will be tough to beat in the Great Northern Conference test here Saturday ... Menominee piled up 67½ points for first place, with Iron River second with 38½ and Iron Mountain third with 31 ... The Maroons took eight first with Mike Bellisle and Ed Powell grabbing double victories ... Bellisle leaped 19-2½ in the long jump and went 11-2 in the pole vault ... Powell won the 100 yard dash in 10.5 and the 220 in 24.2.

Marquette, Escanaba's foe in a dual track meet here Thursday afternoon, has 14 letters back from last year's squad ... Coach Jerry Pangrazzi's Redmen followed the Eskymos in unofficial point totals in the season opening indoor meet at Northern two weeks ago with great depth, picking up points in six events.

"Crozier Just Terrific"

Red Wings Stun Montreal Again

MONTREAL (AP) — Roger Crozier has been such a stand-out in the nets for the Detroit Red Wings during the Stanley Cup playoffs that Manager Coach Sid Abel is running out of words to describe his play.

Crozier was the big man again Tuesday night as the high-flying Red Wings trimmed the Montreal Canadiens 5-2 to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Sparked by a pair of game-saving saves by Crozier in the first minute of play in the third period, the Red Wings scored four goals and put the game out of reach before the period was three minutes old.

"Crozier was just terrific. He saved us again. What more can I say?" Abel said.

Crozier kicked up his right leg and used his glove, too, to rob Gilles Tremblay on the first Montreal rush of the third period.

Seconds later, the Canadiens had a 3-on-1 break and Crozier stabbed Jean Beliveau's shot from the right side.

"I came to Montreal hoping to win one game," Abel said. "Winning was more than I ever expected. This Montreal crowd has a great effect on the Canadiens. But we weren't bothered by it tonight."

"I think the whole difference here has been our skating," Abel continued. "And our older guys are really coming through."

Abel praised Gordie Howe, Bill Gadsby and Alex Delvecchio.

Delvecchio kept the puck in the Montreal end almost single-handedly after the Red Wings took a 4-2 lead and assisted on Dean Prentice's goal.

It gave him 100 points in the playoffs. Only four other players in National Hockey League history have done it before.

Bruce MacGregor started the third period barrage when he beat Montreal goalie Gump Worsley from a pileup in front of the net at 1:55.

Ab McDonald put the Red Wings two goals up 50 seconds later and they were off and running.

Montreal came back and closed the gap at the 12-minute mark when Yvan Cournoyer stabbed the puck past Crozier.

But whatever incentive Montreal got from the goal was dashed 12 seconds later when Floyd Smith scored for the Red Wings after a nifty bit of puck stealing in back of the net by Andy Bathgate.

Prentice added the finishing touches for the Red Wings with less than four minutes remaining.

Each team scored a power play goal in the first period, then couldn't do a thing with the man advantage after that.

Bathgate notched the goal for Detroit, his sixth power play marker of the series, and Jean-Claude Tremblay scored for Montreal.

The series now moves to Detroit where games will be played Thursday night and Sunday afternoon.

Cleveland Wins Ninth In Row; Matches Record

By The Associated Press
Cleveland's streaking Indians have earned themselves a spot in baseball's record book right alongside the extinct St. Louis Browns. Now if they would just follow suit and go away too, Baltimore would be sitting pretty.

The Indians' ninth straight victory—a 4-0 shutout against Kansas City by Luis Tiant Tuesday night—equalled the American League mark for consecutive victories at the start of the season set by the Browns in 1944. St. Louis won the pennant that year.

Meanwhile, second place Baltimore kept pace with a power display that beat California 7-3. It was the Orioles' ninth victory in 10 starts, a .900 pace that would be good enough for first place most of the time but not in the American League right now.

Dave Johnson, Brooks Robinson, Curt Blefary and Andy Etchebarren provided the muscle for the Orioles with home runs that accounted for six runs.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York snapped a seven-game losing streak with a three-run ninth inning rally that beat Boston 7-6, and Chicago downed Washington 4-1.

Tiant's second straight shutout gave the Cuban right-hander a perfect 0.00 earned run average. He blanked Boston in his first start 10 days ago.

Against Kansas City, Tiant allowed just three hits and struck out 12. He got all the runs he needed on homers by Larry Brown and Duke Sims.

The patient Orioles stayed right with the Indians by hammering four home runs. Johnson and Brooks Robinson each had two shots while Blefary and Etchebarren added solo clouts.

Jose Cardenal and Bobby Knoop honored for California.

Baltimore's Robinson Rock continued to provide much of the Orioles' offensive punch. Brooks, who had a single to go with his homer, raised his average to .415 and has driven in 18 runs, tops in the league. Frank Robinson had two hits and jumped his league-leading average to .471.

The Yankees, who had lost 10 of their first 11 games, took a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning against the Red Sox when Boston rallied for four runs against Whitey Ford and three relievers.

But New York came back, tying it on a walk, three singles, a sacrifice and an infield out. Then Joe Pepitone's line single brought Roger Repoz home with the winning run.

Mickey Mantle had three hits and he and Roger Maris drove in their first runs of the season for the Yankees.

Floyd Robinson rapped a two-run homer in the first inning and then Joel Horlen and Eddie Fisher combined on a seven-hit batter that beat the Senators.

Robinson, who has hit in all 11 games Chicago has played, connected after Tommie Agee's leadoff single in the opening inning. He added a double later. Fisher bailed Horlen out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning, retiring the last two Washington hitters.

ROOKIE RECORD

MONTREAL (UPI) — Nels Stewart of the Montreal Maroons scored 34 goals in his rookie season in 1925-26. The record still stands for rookies and the league played only a 36-game schedule that year, compared to 70 games in recent years.

Gets Jumbo Passer

Lombardi Sends Moore To Rams

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League, went to work on the future by making their first major trade of the season.

Looking for quarterbacking depth, Coach Vince Lombardi sent Tom Moore, a proven half-back who had played on three Packer championship teams, to Los Angeles Tuesday for a pair of unknown but promising players and a draft choice.

In return for Moore, Lombardi's original first round draft choice for 1960, the Packers acquired Ron Smith, a jumbo sized quarterback who spent most of last season on the Rams' taxi squad, and Dick Arndt, 6-foot-4, 250-pound Idaho tackle who has a year of eligibility left.

Girls Softball League Elects New Officers

Joyce Trombly was elected president of the Escanaba Women's Softball League at the organization meeting held Tuesday at Club 314.

Other officers named were Jean Finlan, vice president, and Judy Erickson, secretary-treasurer.

June 1 was set as the deadline for the league entry fee of $15, and teams must have sponsors by that date.

Five teams were represented at the meeting and efforts are being made to organize at least one more.

Felipe Can't Visit With Brother, But His Bat Can Speak

By The Associated Press
Felipe Alou felt at home — and acted like it — but he still couldn't talk to his brother. Alou, a Giant for six years, did as he pleased at Candlestick Park Tuesday night — but only after the game started. When that time came, he lashed five hits, including two homers and two doubles, as Atlanta crushed San Francisco 11-3.

But before the game, Alou had to stay away from his younger brother, Jesus, because of the enforcement of the National League's rule against fraternization among opposing players. A number of players have been fined $25 each for violating the edict.

The Alou situation first cropped up Monday night before the opener of the series between the Braves and the Giants.

"Jesus looked so lonely and unhappy before the game I wanted to go talk to him," Felipe said. "That is terrible when a fellow can't talk to his brother on another team."

But Felipe didn't let any lack of communication with Jesus affect his hitting.

On the first pitch from Bob Bolin in Tuesday night's game, Alou hit his fourth homer of the season over the left field fence. The 30-year-old Brave then triggered a three-run third inning with a double, led off the fourth with another homer — his fourth in the last three games — singled in the five-run sixth and doubled in the seventh.

The lusty performance rocketed his batting average 54 points to .393 and gave him hits in all of the Braves' 14 games.

In other National League games, Los Angeles defeated St. Louis 4-2 and New York outslugged Chicago 14-11.

Sandy Koufax allowed 13 hits — tying the most hits he's ever given in a game — but a four-run Dodgers first inning brought the left-hander his third victory of the season, the last two on complete games.

After giving up six hits in the first inning — one of them John Roseboro's two-run single — St. Louis' Bob Gibson held the Dodgers to one hit the rest of the way, retiring the final 18 batters he faced.

The Mets insured their victory over the Cubs with a six-run outburst in the eighth inning. Ed Kranepool, who followed Ken Boyer's three-run homer in the third with a homer of his own, singled in two of the eighth-inning runs, and Cleon Jones drove in another pair with a triple.

Kallio

In loving memory of our dear husband and father Emil Kallio, who passed away 5 years ago today, April 27, 1961.

Gone, but not forgotten. A precious one from us has gone. A voice so loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled. God in His Wisdom has recalled. The boon His love has given. And though the body slumbers here His soul is safe in Heaven.

Sadly Missed By
Louise, Ann and Ervin Jr.

Meteiver

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father Ervin Meteiver who passed away one year ago April 27, 1965.

Little we knew when we awoke, The sorrow the day would bring. The call was sudden, shock severe. You had no one a last farewell, Or even said good-bye. You were gone before we knew, And only God knows why.

Sadly Missed By
Louise, Ann and Ervin Jr.

Cancer Swap Patient Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A former professional baseball player who underwent an experimental cancer-swap operation in an effort to prolong his life has lost his battle with the dread disease.

Harry T. Griffith, 63, of Flourtown, Pa., died Monday in Chestnut Hill Hospital.

In the operation, Griffith, who had a form of cancer known as osteogenic sarcoma, exchanged small strips of malignant tissue with Robert F. Allen, 29, of Tucson, Ariz., former University of Illinois football player, who also has the disease. They also exchanged blood.

Doctors had hoped that by transplanting cancer cells between two patients with identical cancers, each patient's body would produce antibodies against each other's cancer. Then, by exchanging blood the antibodies hopefully would attack the patient's original cancer.

Dr. Sigmund Nadler, associate chief cancer research surgeon at the hospital, said that Allen and two other men who took part in a similar experiment are progressing, but that it would be some time before their conditions could be evaluated. Allen is still a patient at the hospital.

STRENGTH, SIZE, YEARS OF SERVICE

... it's all written in this Statement of Condition

OUR strength, size, our banking experience is mirrored in these figures, and no comparative bank statement within this area lays such claim to the ranking position we enjoy as does ours.

The capital strength of this bank, the largest in Delta County, is beyond what might be termed necessary. There is comfort in this prudent surplus, however. This strength we enjoy gives added protection to our depositors, gives added assurance of our ability to meet their needs and meet the challenge of changing times.

The total resources of First National also rank as the largest in Delta County. Actually, First National is the third largest in the Upper Peninsula and gaining on this position each year. This is the best indicator of public acceptance we can give. We're proud of the way the public in this area has trusted us with their deposits.

Age is a privilege, and along with the other Firsts, it is an enviable privilege to be the oldest bank in Delta County. Experience is the most noteworthy by-product of years in service. Our experience should help us answer any questions, and any request for help that you might have.

First National is the strongest, the largest, the oldest bank in Delta County, and everyone associated with our bank is proud of this position. We are mindful, however, that we grew strong and large and experienced because you and so many others came to bank with us. Thank you for your support, your acceptance. In turn, we pledge to remain a strong bank, a community-minded bank, a bank to be counted on.
